Dear Tribal Leader:

I invite you to participate in a consultation on the legal authority and process for the Secretary of the Interior (Secretary) to take land into trust in Alaska. I am enclosing a list of questions to help guide our discussion. This list is certainly not exhaustive and is intended to serve only as the starting point for discussion.

In accordance with President Trump’s direction to conduct a review of new and pending regulations and agency statements of general applicability, the Department is reviewing M-Opinion 37043 (Sol. Op. M-37043). The Solicitor of the Department issued Sol. Op. M-37043 on January 13, 2017, to assess the Secretary’s authority to take land into trust in Alaska under the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA) in light of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) and the Supreme Court’s decision in Carcieri v. Salazar. On June 20, the Department determined it was necessary to withdraw Sol. Op. M-37043 pending further review and consultation because the M-Opinion fails to fully discuss the possible implications of legislation enacted after ANCSA upon the Secretary’s authority to take land into trust in Alaska. Such legislation includes the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA), the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA), the 1988 amendments to ANCSA, and 1994 amendments to the IRA.

We are interested in your thoughts on the Secretary’s exercise of his authority to take land into trust in Alaska and on the issues left unresolved by Sol. Op. M-37043. Consultations will be held with both federally recognized tribes in Alaska and the Alaska Native Corporations, as required by law. Additionally, we will hold a public meeting, which will be open to anyone else who may wish to participate in this process.

QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION

Authority to Take Land Into Trust in Alaska under the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA)

1. How do you view the impact, if any, of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, and the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act on the Secretary’s ability to take land-in-trust in Alaska?

2. What impact, if any, do the 1994 amendments to the Indian Reorganization Act have on the Secretary’s ability to promulgate rules specific to federally recognized tribes in Alaska?

3. Should Congressional intent or legislative history play a role in determining whether the Secretary should accept land into trust in Alaska?

Process for Taking Land Into Trust in Alaska

4. Is 25 CFR 151 (Part 151), Land Acquisitions, an appropriate process for tribes in Alaska to request the Department take land-in-trust?

5. Are there challenges specific to tribes in Alaska that make the requirements of Part 151 particularly challenging to satisfy?

6. If the Department were to promulgate regulations governing land-into-trust acquisitions specific to federally recognized tribes in Alaska, how might those regulations differ from Part 151?
