MISSION STATEMENT

To promote and advocate maximum Indian participation in the programs and services conducted by the Federal Government for Indians; and to encourage and support the development of tribal capacity to better manage the opportunities and responsibilities of self-determination.

In 1975, the United States Congress enacted the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (the Act), Pub. L. 93-638. The Act allowed for Indian tribes to have greater autonomy and to have the opportunity to assume the responsibility for programs and services administered to them on behalf of the Secretary of the Interior through contractual agreements. The Act assured that Indian tribes had paramount involvement in the direction of services provided by the Federal government in an attempt to target the delivery of such services to the needs and desires of the local communities. In the Act, Congress declared its commitment to maintaining the unique and continuing relationship with Indian tribes through the new policy of self-determination. The strengthening of this relationship provided a methodical evolution of federal dominance to an improved and effective Indian involvement in the development and management of programs.

The Division of Self-Determination Services (DSDS) within the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), the Office of Indian Services (OIS) serves as the primary contact on policy affecting the unique contractual relationship between the Secretary of the Interior and Indian tribes or tribal entities. In addition to developing policy and providing program direction at a national level, the Division focuses its efforts on training and technical assistance to meet the increasing demand for modernization and professional growth by BIA employees and tribal contractors. The Division of Self-Determination Services was re-established in Fiscal Year 2008 and was divided between Central Office Headquarters in Washington, DC and Albuquerque, NM. The split-locations allow each Pub. L. 93-638 contract Awarding Official greater access to program experts at headquarters for technical assistance or policy guidance.

WHY WE TRAIN

Indian Affairs’ policy supports and assists efforts of Federally recognized Indian tribes to plan, conduct, and administer programs and services provided for the benefit of Indian tribes and their members through the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (ISDEAA).

WHO WE TRAIN

The training program is designed for Federal and tribal officials in support of the execution of self-determination programs and services. The training program provides technical assistance and training courses on program specific components. The training curriculum targets the duties and responsibilities of the ISDEAA agreements in methods consistent with applicable laws, rules, and regulation, while supporting Congress and the Secretary’s goal of, “...supporting and assisting Indian Tribes in the development of strong and stable tribal governments, capable of administering quality programs...”* through comprehensive technical assistance without impairing the Secretary’s trust responsibility to any tribe or tribal member.
TRAINING OVERVIEW

Training courses provide information on specific aspects of P.L. 93-638, Laws and Regulations, as Amended to ensure successful implementation. The course and coursework are effective tools in the administration and oversight of the contract, grant, or cooperative agreement with the tribe or tribal organization.
