Subject: Appraisal of NARA Job No. N1-75-04-2

To: Director, NMWL

The United States Department of the Interior, Office of Special Trustee for American Indians (OST), Office of Trust Records (OTR) submits NARA Job Number N1-75-04-2, to provide revised disposition authorization for those records that are created by the Forestry and Fire function (records series 4400) of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA).

The Forestry and Fire Request for Records Disposition Authorization (SF115) is the second in a series of six records schedules that have been submitted to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) by OTR to request disposition authorization for textual Trust-related records. The additional records schedules received to date are: N1-075-04-1, Environmental Quality Services (records series 4300); N1-075-04-3, Natural Resources (Range Management, records series 4500); N1-075-04-4, Real Estate Services and Land, Title and Records Office (LTO, records series 4600); N1-075-04-5, Roads and Transportation (records series 4700); and N1-075-04-6, Irrigation and Power (records series 4900). These records schedules will completely supersede the disposition authorities for the related records that were approved by NARA on September 15, 1977, as NARA Job No. NC1-075-77-1, and on July 30, 1990, as NARA Job No. N1-075-89-1. In addition, the new records schedules will supersede all disposition authorities for these records that are listed in BIA records manuals, including but not limited to 43BIAM, 15 BIAM, 16BIAM, RCS96, and RCS98.

Background

Against the backdrop of the Cobell, et al. v. Norton, et al. Indian trust litigation pending in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, and the resulting Cobell Fiduciary Obligation Compliance Plan of January 6, 2003, the Department of the Interior (DOI) entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), dated September 12, 2003. The purpose of the MOU is to provide a centralized storage facility, referred to as the American Indian Records Repository, for BIA, OST, and other DOI fiduciary trust records at NARA’s Federal Records Center (FRC) in Lenexa, Kansas. This agreement is expected to result in the consolidation of approximately 200,000 cubic feet of BIA, OST, and related DOI textual records created and presently maintained at DOI as well as in NARA’s Lee’s Summit facility. The textual records that are appraised as having historical value will be retained as permanent records on a long-term basis at the Lenexa facility.

NARA has been providing extensive advice and guidance to the Office of Trust Records and to the Office of the Assistant Secretary to the Department of the Interior on the development of records schedules for BIA records in textual and electronic media. This project has been ongoing since fiscal year 2000, during which time NARA has reviewed and provided comments on pre-submission sets of draft schedules for 13 components of electronic systems of the BIA and for the 4000 series of records in textual format. In keeping with the timetable of the Compliance Plan, these records schedules were submitted to NARA in final in September and October of 2003 for appraisal and approval.

In accordance with the Compliance Plan and the Order Issuing Structural Injunction in Cobell, dated September 25, 2003, the following timetable is now in effect: by December 31, 2003, defendant DOI is to establish and implement revised records retention schedules for non-electronic Trust records for BIA and OST, and by March 31, 2004, DOI is to establish and implement revised records retention schedules for electronic Trust records for BIA and OST, as described in the Compliance Plan.

On September 15, 2003, OTR submitted six additional records schedules to provide disposition authorization for electronic records in Trust-related systems. The electronic records will be appraised in separate records appraisal memoranda and will provide permanent disposition authorization for 13 electronic systems and subsystems.

History

In an earlier opinion in the Cobell litigation, the district court set out at some length the history of interactions between the U.S. government and Indian tribes. See Cobell v. Norton, 91 F.Supp.2d 1, 7-12 (D.D.C. 1999), affirmed and remanded, Cobell v. Norton, 240 F.3d 1081 (D.C. Cir. 2001). A brief synopsis of the Court’s more extended discussion is included below to provide the larger historical context behind the recommendation to deem permanent in nature portions of DOI’s present record holdings pertaining or sufficiently related to Indian and tribal trust records.

In 1824, the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) was created to implement the policy of the relocation of tribal communities from their homelands in the East and Midwest to land in the newly acquired Louisiana Purchase territory. For most of the Nineteenth Century, the Federal government entered into a series of treaties and agreements identifying the lands owned by the tribes. By the late 1870s, the Federal government had embarked upon an era during which the BIA became the provider of foods, goods, and services to the tribes.

In 1887, Congress passed the General Allotment Act, also known as the Dawes Act. The Dawes Act authorized the division of any Indian reservation into separate plots, and assigns the portions to individual tribal members, according to a prescribed formula. The head of a family was allotted a one-fourth section, or 160 acres; each single person over eighteen and each orphan child under eighteen was allotted a one-eighth section, or 80 acres; and each non-orphan child under eighteen was allotted a one-sixteenth section, or 40 acres. The lands that were not allotted to Indian individuals were then opened to non-Indian settlement. The Federal government held allotted land in Trust for individual Indians for a period of 25 years. After the 25 years had passed, the Government could convey full title to the land to the Indian to whom the land had been allotted or it could extend the 25-year period at its discretion. Indians could not lease, sell, or burden their property without the approval of the Federal government.

With the enactment of the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934, the Federal government ended the allotment era and authorized the Secretary of the Interior to acquire land and place it in Trust for the tribes and for individual Indians. This Act also indefinitely extended the Trust period for the allotments that had already been made. As a result of the allotment process and the indefinite extension of the Trust period, the United States presently holds approximately eleven million acres of land in Trust for the heirs of the American Indians to whom they were originally allotted.

In the early 1950s, the Government withdrew recognition of the existence of certain tribes and forswore any responsibility to those tribes or their people as Indians. The tribal assets were either administered by a corporate entity or distributed among the tribal members. The termination policy ended quickly and after the 1960s, no further tribes were terminated. The end of the termination policy brought about the onset of the modern era of Indian policy: self-determination and self-governance. The enactment in 1975 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (Public Law 93-638 and amendments) permits tribes to assume any of the functions BIA carries out on the reservation. Tribes may also assume those functions performed by Office of Trust Fund Management (OTFM) with regard to IIM Trust accounts, through a contract or compact with Interior. Under the Self-Determination Act, if BIA contracts with a tribe to allow that tribe to perform a function, the financial resources that BIA would use in providing that service, including the overhead, are transferred to the tribe. In essence, these funds, which represent almost seventy percent of BIA’s budget, pass through BIA to the tribes.

In the 1980s, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) placed the financial management of Indian Trust funds as a high-risk liability to the United States. Prompted in large part by the findings of a 1992 OMB report entitled “Misplaced Trust,” Congress in 1994 enacted the Indian Trust Fund Management Reform Act, P.L. 103-412 (“the 1994 Act”). Congress has designated the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of the Treasury to be the Trustee-delegates of the United States, and the departments run by these two cabinet secretaries are entrusted with certain Trust management responsibilities.

The Trust responsibilities of the Treasury Department are to maintain and invest IIM funds, under the direction of the Interior Department, and to provide accounting and financial management services. The United States has entrusted most of its Trust obligations, however, to the Department of the Interior. Within the Interior Department, several agencies perform particular IIM Trust functions. These agencies include BIA, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), the Office of Trust Funds Management (OTFM), and the Minerals Management Service (MMS).
On June 10, 1996, the named plaintiffs in Cobell commenced their present action against the Secretary of the Interior and other Federal officials, alleging that the mismanagement of the IIM Trust by the Interior and Treasury departments constituted a breach of their fiduciary duty to plaintiffs. The United States District Court for the District of Columbia certified the action as a class action on February 4, 1997, and designated the named plaintiffs as class representatives for all present and former IIM beneficiaries. On May 5, 1998, the Court bifurcated this action into two distinct phases. The Court describes the phases in this manner: Phase I of the litigation, also known as the “fixing the system” phase, focuses on the reforms instigated by defendants to bring the management of the IIM Trust into compliance with their fiduciary obligations. This phase is forward-looking, in that it attempts to discern whether defendants have reformed the management of the IIM Trust in such a way as to ensure that the United States will honor its fiduciary obligations to the Indian beneficiaries in the future. On September 25, 2003, the Court issued its latest opinion on this phase of the case (Mem. Op. “Fixing the System”), as well as the above-referenced Order Issuing Structural Injunction.

The Court has yet to hear testimony with respect to the Phase II portion of Cobell, also known as the “historical accounting phase,” which will focus on the performance of a formal accounting of the IIM Trust, as required by the 1994 Act. This phase is backward looking, in that it attempts to discern to what extent the United States has honored its fiduciary obligations to the Indian beneficiaries who make up the Cobell class, from the inception of the Trust until the present date. The Court also issued an Opinion dated September 25, 2003, regarding “Historical Accounting.” In the latter opinion and accompanying Order Issuing Structural Injunction, the Court set various deadlines through calendar year 2007 for DOI to comply with carrying out a final accounting.

Records Appraisal

The records in the 4400 series, Forestry and Fire program records, were examined on September 10 – 11, 2003, at the NARA Lee’s Summit Federal Records Center facility. The Forestry records sampled date from 1929 to 1998. The Forestry records series review include: Timber Management Plans (4401); Timber Sales Contracts (4402); Timber Sale Data (4403); Timber Sale Ledgers (4404); Monthly Reports of Timber Cut (4405); Special Allotment Cutting Permits (4406); Timber Cutting Permits (4407); Log Scale Sheets (4408); Forestry Scale repots (4409); Forestry Check Sale Report (4410); Analysis of Obligations (4411); Forestry Working Papers (4412); Annual Financial Statements of Indian Lumber Companies (4414), including documents relating to the accountability of the agency for the cutting and selling of timber from allotted and Trust lands; related printouts of electronic mail messages and work processing documents; and related spreadsheets.

Included in the 4400 series were the records created by the Fire Program. The series of Fire Program Records reviewed dated from 1945-1994. The 4400 program records series reviewed included: Agency Fire Control Plans (4415); Individual Fire Reports (4417); Annual Area Fire Reports (4419b) which includes reports of acreage damaged from fire, timetables of event and the cost to the BIA; and Cumulative Forestry Comparative Statements (4422). The accessions reviewed also included printouts of the daily download of data from the National Incident...
Command Center (NICC) [a multi-agency fire command center]. The daily downloads relate to fire sites on Trust land.

Records described as Fire Trespass records (series 4421) were incorrectly identified on BIA supporting documentation (such as the SF135). Upon review of the content of the box, the NARA team determined that the records related to correspondence from the Regional Solicitors Office relating to forestry matters from tours on land and allotment grazing not associated with Illegal Timber or Fire Trespasses. The same disposition that has been applied to all of the series of records listed on this records retention schedule will be applied to this set of correspondence files.

Timber Trespass Records (4420) were withdrawn from NARA Job No. N1-75-89-1, item 4420, and no records were located in the Lee’s Summit holdings. Even though the records were not examined, this series is listed on this most recent records schedule submission and will no longer be in withdrawn status.

Located also was an accession described as “Weather Observation Logs”. The Forestry Branch creates these records to document the daily weather conditions, taken from observation towers. The records date from 1947-1995. The Bureau of Indian Affairs has not scheduled these records, nor does there appear to be a matching item in this records disposition schedule. However, the same disposition that has been applied to all of the series of records listed on this records retention schedule will be applied to the Weather Observation Logs.

The following records series were not available for review: Annual Financial Statements for Indian Sawmills (4413); Forestry Manuscript or Annotated Maps (4415); Timber Trespass (4420); and Fire Trespass files (4421). Also, to the best of the NARA team’s knowledge, the 11 new series and subsersies that pertain to Timber Marketing (item 4423) and to fire management activities (items 4424 through 4433) of BIA, were not available for review at Lee’s Summit.

Conclusion

The five-year time period that the records are to be maintained in agency space after the annual cutoff of the files is appropriate to meet the business needs of the agency. Although the appraisal was limited to those BIA records stored at Lee’s Summit and therefore not all records series in this records schedule were reviewed, the NARA team that conducted the appraisal work at Lee’s Summit has sufficient expertise in records that document forestry and fire activities of Federal agencies. In light of the continued pendency of the Cobell litigation and the current posture of the case, we determined that the Forestry and Fire records are permanently valuable because of the significant secondary value of these records for future historical, economic, geographic, and demographic research.

Under the present circumstances, the permanent retention of these bodies of records is appropriate to assure Government accountability, to protect rights, and to document the national experience. Therefore, NARA Stakeholder Units and I concur with the proposed disposition instructions for and the permanent retention of the records in the 4400 series. I recommend approval of this records schedule.
