

Documented Petition Description with a
Suggested Outline for Concise Written Narrative

Any group within the contiguous 48 states seeking Federal acknowledgment as an Indian tribe must petition under the Department of the Interior's (Department) "Procedures for Federal Acknowledgment of Indian Tribes," Part 83 of Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations (25 CFR Part 83). On July 1, 2015, the Department issued a final rule regarding this administrative process. This rule became effective on July 31, 2015.

The 2015 Federal regulations require that a group provide a "documented petition" of "detailed arguments" about how the petitioner claims to meet the criteria. In addition, the 2015 regulations provide that a petitioning group include "supporting documentary evidence" that validates the petitioner's claims (§ 83.1). The purpose of this document is to guide groups in preparing their documented petitions for the Department's Federal acknowledgment process.

Documented Petition Description

Under § 83.21(a) of the 2015 regulations, the documented petition may be in any readable form and must include the following:

- (1) a certification, signed and dated by the group's governing body, stating that the submitted materials constitute the group's official documented petition;
- (2) a concise written narrative, with citations to supporting documentation, thoroughly explaining how each document is applied to the criteria in § 83.11. The narrative should describe in detail the group's continuous social and political existence from 1900 to the present and describes its descent from the historical Indian tribe;
- (3) copies of supporting documentation cited in the written narrative which contain specific, detailed evidence that the group meets each of the criteria in § 83.11; and
- (4) an official current membership list (with each member's full name, maiden name as appropriate, birthdate, and current residential address) with a statement describing the circumstances surrounding the preparation of the current membership list. The group's governing body should separately certify this list. In addition, the group should submit copies of past membership lists with statements describing the circumstances surrounding the preparation of the former membership lists, insofar as possible.

Privacy Information within the Documented Petition

As § 83.21(b) of the 2015 regulations requires, petitioners must identify and remove or "redact" (conceal) privacy or other protected information in their petition materials, which is protected from release to the public under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). Privacy information is information about living individuals; it includes names, birth dates, family relationships, blood quantum, medical or personnel matters, home addresses, Social Security numbers, phone numbers, e-mail addresses, or other personal information that is not generally known. In addition to privacy information, material that FOIA protects that may be in the petition includes certain financial information (such as bank statements, consultant's fees, and grant applications) or privileged communications with the group's lawyer. If new or previous submissions contain privacy materials, the group must:

- (1) redact them (conceal privacy information),
- (2) provide un-redacted versions of the relevant pages, and
- (3) provide explanations of the legal basis for withholding such information from public release.

The Department will not publicly release privacy information, but may release redacted information if it is not protectable under Federal law as required by § 83.21(b). The group does not need to redact membership lists and member files because the Department will automatically withhold this privacy information from release.

When OFA receives all the components of a documented petition required in § 83.21(a) and what is required under § 83.21(b), it will place the petitioner on the register of petitioners waiting for active consideration or request further documentation. The Department will place on the register only those petitions that meet the 2015 regulation's definition of a "complete documented petition."

The petitioner must provide a concise written narrative which thoroughly describes its continuous social and political existence from 1900 to the present and describes its descent from a historical Indian tribe. A group's claims applicable to the seven mandatory criteria must be supported by documentary evidence.

Suggested Outline for Concise Written Narrative

The following outline is a guide for creating the "concise written narrative." This outline describes several topics a group may wish to consider when providing the "concise written narrative." Suggested topics include, but are not limited to, the following: an introduction of the petitioning group, the claim of the historical Indian tribe, any claims of previous Federal acknowledgment if applicable, a presentation of how the group meets the seven mandatory criteria, and a bibliography. This outline is not meant to be a formula for a positive decision; instead, this outline suggests a reasonable structure for the concise written narrative. If a petitioning group believes that other topics are important to its petition, then it should link them to the appropriate criteria and properly reference, cite, and certify all its supporting evidence in its submissions.

SUGGESTED OUTLINE & SUPPORTING EVIDENCE

- I. Introduction regarding petitioning group
  - A. Current official name of the petitioner and previous names, if applicable
    - 1. Name should appear in group's governing document

IV. Seven mandatory criteria – thorough explanations of how cited supporting evidence applies to criteria

- A. Criterion 83.11(a) – Identifications of Indian entity
  - 1. Introduction – Provide a brief overview of how the petitioner meets criterion 83.11(a) from 1900 to present; the petitioner or its ancestral group, not individuals, must be identified as an Indian entity; external and self-identifications must be of the group as it existed contemporary to the time of the identifications. These identifications must be from 1900 to the present and should be no more than 10 years apart (as shown below). For each time period, provide photocopies or image scans from sources that identify the petitioning group as an Indian entity as required by 83.11(a). Thoroughly explain how each piece of evidence meets this criterion.

2. 1900 to 1909
3. 1910 to 1919
4. 1920 to 1929
5. 1930 to 1939

8. 1960 to 1969
9. 1970 to 1979
10. 1980 to 1989
11. 1990 to 1999
12. 2000 to 2009
13. 2010 to present
14. Summary
15. Provide applicable supporting evidence for each decade
  - a. Clear, legible photocopy or scanned electronic copy of each piece of supporting evidence
  - b. Possible transcription and translation of supporting evidence
  - c. Bibliographical references of supporting evidence preferably on the face of the submitted copies, which would enable OFA to locate the evidence.

B. Criterion 83.11(b) – Distinct Community

1. Introduction – Organize evidence in time periods that document the group’s social and cultural events and activities from 1900 to the present. These periods vary for each petitioner based on its specific history and circumstances, but 20-year periods may provide a useful framework (as shown below). Indicate the events that mark each time period’s beginning and end. Provide information for each period. First, describe the social group at different points in time by answering questions such as: Who are the actual group members? How are they related to one another and what is the group’s composition? Where do they live, socialize, and celebrate life events? What social institutions (churches, neighborhoods, schools, social clubs, interest groups, cemetery, or economic pursuits) support the member’s social interaction? Second, provide evidence describing what the members are doing with one another, particularly activities that distinguish its members from non-members. Some examples of social interaction include marriages between the group’s members, seasonal celebrations, informal get-togethers, and group reunions. Demonstrate that the petitioner’s membership participate in these activities. In addition, the petitioner may provide evidence of cultural practices specific to the group such as shared language, religious activities, or specific cultural knowledge and practices commemorating the group’s historical heritage that are not recent interpretations. Thoroughly explain how each piece of evidence meets this criterion.
2. 1900 to 1919

3. 1920 to 1939
4. 1940 to 1959
5. 1960 to 1979
6. 1980 to 1999
7. 2000 to present
8. Summary
9. Provide applicable supporting evidence for each period
  - a. Clear, legible photocopy or scanned electronic copy of each piece of supporting evidence
  - b. Transcription and translation of supporting evidence, if appropriate
  - c. Bibliographical references of supporting evidence preferably on the face of the submitted copies, which would enable OFA to locate the evidence.

C. Criterion 83.11(c) – Political Influence or Authority

1. Introduction – Organize evidence in periods that reflect the petitioner’s political events and activities from 1900 to the present (as shown below). Indicate the events that mark each period’s beginning and end. Include a description of the political issues, events, and activities of the group, identifying specific leaders, governing bodies, and notable members active during each period. Political influence or authority may change depending on the changing economic, cultural, and social environment confronting its members. Describe how a governing body or political processes (including formal and informal leadership, peer pressure, and factions) influence the behavior of members in significant ways. Describe in detail how the group has made decisions affecting its members and has resolved conflicts among its members. Discuss how the group has chosen its leaders. Give details of the succession of named leaders from 1900 to the present, and describe how leaders have represented the group and its members when dealing with outsiders in important matters. Provide specific examples that support statements made in the narrative. Thoroughly explain how each piece of evidence meets this criterion.
2. 1900 to 1919
3. 1920 to 1939
4. 1940 to 1959
5. 1960 to 1979

8. Summary
9. Provide applicable supporting evidence for each period
  - a. Clear, legible photocopy or scanned electronic copy of each piece of supporting evidence
  - b. Transcription and translation of supporting evidence, if appropriate
  - c. Bibliographical references of supporting evidence preferably on the face of the submitted copies, which would enable OFA to locate the evidence.

  3. Summary
  4. Provide current and past governing document(s)

    - g. Electronic genealogical database in its original format and in GEDCOM format. The database must include all of the current members and each previous generation linking members to the historical Indian tribe. The group also may include in its database other members of the group who were important members of the community but do not have descendants in the current group (such as, important leaders)
