3	MS. BROWN: To connect. We would like
4	to welcome you to the consultation on the Alaska
5	Native Corporation consultation policy and
6	procedures with the Department of Interior. To 7	help with audio quality, please mute yourself and 8	also cameras off until the discussion begins. If 9	you don't mind, please, closed captioning will be 10	available and I will put the link in the chat to 11	access the closed captioning live stream. This 12	consultation is closed to the press so we ask if
13	you are a member of the press, we ask you
14	disconnect at this time and just for awareness,
15	this session will be recorded. If you do not
16	consent to recording, we ask that you disconnect.
17	I will now turn it over to Assistant Secretary
18	Newland.
19	MR. NEWLAND: Thank you so much, Rachel.
20	Good morning. Good afternoon, everyone.
21	Afternoon here in D.C. My name is Bryan Newland.
22	I have the privilege of serving as Assistant

- 1 Secretary for Indian Affairs here at the
- 2 Department of the Interior. I'm joined by several
- 3 brilliant and talented folks from our team here.
- 4 You just heard from Rachel Brown. We also have
- 5 Senior Policy Advisor Tracy Goodluck, our Policy
- 6 Special Advisor Joaquin Gallegos, our Policy
- 7 Counselor, Rose Petoskey. And we're really glad
- 8 to be with you today. Before we get started,
- 9 ordinarily we want to provide space to tribal
- 10 leaders and representatives to offer prayer or
- words of blessing, or in the absence of that, to
- 12 take a moment to allow everyone to pray in your
- own way for a good conversation.
- So, we're going to do that now. Thank
- you so much for taking that time. We know in
- 16 Indian affairs, working with the Indian people
- that across our Tribal nations it's customary to
- make sure we convene our gatherings and our
- important conversations in an appropriate,
- 20 respectful way. So again, I want to express my
- 21 gratitude to all of you for taking time to join us
- 22 today. I know that you're all busy on behalf of

1 your organizations doing a lot of work, and this

- 2 is always the end of summer. Beginning of fall is
- 3 always a really busy time of year. So, thank you
- again for taking your time with us. We are here
- 5 to hear from you on the department's draft
- 6 policies and procedures on consultation with
- 7 Alaska Native corporations.
- 8 We are proposing new chapters of the
- 9 Department's manual, which would be found at the
- 10 Departmental manual Part 512 Chapter six for the
- 11 policy and at Chapter seven for the procedures.
- 12 These new chapters are part of our effort to
- 13 update the consultation policies for the
- 14 Department, as well as incorporate the
- 15 freestanding 2012 DOI policy in consultation with
- 16 ANCSA corporations into our departmental menu.
- 17 We've undertaken a similar update with respect to
- our consultation policy with federally recognized
- tribes, and we'll be developing separate chapters
- 20 and procedures for consultation with the Native
- 21 Hawai'ian community. On August 15th. We sent a
- 22 consultation invite letter to its corporate

- 1 leaders that included the draft departmental
- 2 manual chapters as well as a copy of the 2012
- 3 policy.
- 4 These draft chapters seek to outline the
- 5 requirements for consultation between ANCSA
- 6 Corporation officials and department officials.
- 7 Also, to clarify that the departmental manual
- 8 chapter applies to all departmental bureaus and
- 9 offices. Also, the draft chapters seek to
- identify the responsibilities of the department in
- 11 bureaus and offices in the consultation process
- and establish an ANCSA, a corporation consultation
- annual report for department bureaus and offices.
- We want to take this opportunity to open a new
- chapter in consultation, where meaningful
- 16 consultation becomes second nature and built into
- 17 all of our decision-making processes, not just
- here within Indian Affairs, but across the
- 19 Department of the Interior and across the federal
- 20 government. I really, again, express my gratitude
- 21 to all of you for being here today.
- I look forward to hearing from you. Our

- 1 team is ready. And as you heard from Rachel at
- 2 the top, we're making a transcript of this so that
- 3 we can incorporate your feedback into our work.
- 4 And we want to make sure that we're strengthening
- 5 and evolving our relationships with you all. So,
- 6 with that, I want to open up the floor to leaders
- 7 if you are joining us by phone. I believe you can
- 8 press star nine to raise your hand. And those of
- 9 you who are joining us over Zoom, you can use the
- 10 reactions button in the raise my hand function at
- 11 the bottom of your screen. Going to try to
- monitor the chat, but there's often a lag time
- 13 between when I can read that because I'm listening
- 14 to folks.
- So, we'll call on folks in the order
- 16 they raise their hands, ask that you please be
- 17 respectful of others in your conversation and wait
- until everybody has had an opportunity to speak
- 19 before raising your hand for a second time. So,
- 20 with that, the floor is yours. While we wait,
- 21 Rachel, would you mind putting in the chat how the
- 22 deadline for written comments and where those can

- 1 be submitted.
- MS. BROWN: Yes, will do.
- 3 MR. NEWLAND: Thank you, Miss Hensley.
- 4 MS. HENSLEY: Hi. Good morning or good
- 5 afternoon.
- 6 MR. NEWLAND: Good morning. It's good
- 7 to see you.
- 8 MS. HENSLEY: Yes, you too. Hi,
- 9 everybody. (speaks in Native language) Saagulik
- 10 Elizabeth Hensley. (speaks in Native language)
- 11 Regional Corporation. Vice President for External
- 12 affairs. So that's Inca for good morning, and my
- name is Saagulik Elizabeth Hensley, and I'm Vice
- 14 President of External affairs at NANA. Thank you
- very much for the opportunity to participate in
- this meeting today. It's nice to see some
- familiar faces, familiar names. I want to start
- by saying I was really; I had a really wonderful
- 19 opportunity to work at the Interior Department
- 20 back in around 2010 when executive order 13175 was
- 21 really just starting to kind of get rolling and
- the department was drafting the tribal

- 1 consultation policies. So, I wanted to disclose
- 2 that and also just say, wow, what a long distance
- 3 we've come since then. And it's really wonderful
- 4 to see the progress made over the years and it's
- 5 great to see Assistant Secretary Newland again in
- 6 this role.
- I believe she was a counselor back then,
- 8 so it's just really exciting to see the results of
- 9 time. I wanted to make a few comments about the
- 10 draft, initial draft that you guys have prepared.
- 11 And thanks very much for sending the red lines.
- 12 We appreciate Sarah Walker communicating with us
- and looping us in. Also, as we always do this
- 14 work, you know, on paper and paperwork. Which --
- and we all have to use our imagination to kind of
- see what it will mean in real life.
- So, we just really want to extend our
- 18 appreciation to Assistant Secretary Newland and
- 19 Tracy Goodluck and others who were able to come to
- 20 Alaska a couple of months ago and just see and
- 21 feel and smell and taste in real life, kind of
- 22 what some of the words on paper mean to us. So,

- 1 it was great to see you then. We always want to
- 2 welcome people back. So come on back anytime.
- 3 So, we took a look at the drafts and understand
- 4 it's kind of an initial draft. So, thanks for
- 5 sharing that. One of our questions was, would you
- 6 be revising the Indian tribes' documents? And so
- 7 based on what you said, Assistant Secretary
- 8 Newland.
- 9 We understand that, yes, the process is
- going on there, too. And so, thanks for answering
- 11 that right out of the chute. As you know, Federal
- 12 law requires that Alaskan native corporations like
- 13 NANA support and protect Alaskan Native people.
- 14 That's one of our roles as Alaska Native
- 15 corporations. And we also know that you've been
- 16 -- you're familiar with the unique model of
- 17 self-determination that exists in Alaska, which
- includes our tribal governments, our federally
- 19 recognized tribal governments that are engaging in
- 20 governance activities on behalf of our people, for
- 21 our people, including myself, as a citizen of the
- 22 native village of Delta or Kotzebue.

                 And we also know that Alaska Native
       corporations play a really key role in our model of self-determination as the owners, the holders
       of the title for a good portion of our indigenous
       homelands through the Alaska Native corporations be entitled to about a 10th of our indigenous
       homelands. So not everything, I think we lobbied 8 for getting title to about 110% of Alaska, but we ended up with 10%. Not too shabby, but we really 10 do take our obligation to our people seriously to 11 manage our Indigenous homelands for their benefit.
       NANA has 15,000 shareholders and a land based 12
13 about the size of Indiana and we manage our land 14 and protect it and we manage it first and foremost for our people to live our way of life, which is 15
16
       largely a subsistence lifestyle where we hunt, 17 fish, gather.
                 Right now, the caribou are starting to 18 19 come down. So, it's caribou hunting season and 20 moose hunting season, which is a really wonderful 21 time of year. We are also the private landowners, 22 which is unique to Alaska. And this way our --

- 1 you know, our NANA's land isn't held in trust. We
- 2 have a full-on title. So, we think that it's
- 3 important to recognize that there is that private
- 4 landowner, right, which is important in
- 5 consultation and when the department might be
- 6 taking actions that might affect and seize land as
- 7 private landowners of our indigenous homeland.
- 8 And we all, we think that ANCSA
- 9 corporation is consultation isn't only an
- 10 obligation that's done under federal law to comply
- with the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2004
- and 2005. But we also really find that it's just
- 13 critically important to incorporating more
- 14 indigenous knowledge into federal actions and just
- information from the ground which really can help
- 16 the outcome of decisions be appropriate to the
- 17 people that the decisions will affect. We know
- 18 that the law provides the ANCSA corporations shall
- 19 be consulted on the same basis as tribes. And
- 20 something that I really am curious about and pay
- 21 attention to is like, what does that mean? That
- 22 quote unquote, on the same basis as, and that's

1 something that I think as the developments to the

- 2 ANCSA corporation consultation policy and the
- 3 Indian tribe consultation policy, like keeping
- 4 that in the back of our minds through these
- 5 initial drafts and through the work, it's that the
- 6 loss is on the same basis as.
- 7 And we -- really people might not
- 8 necessarily think about ANCs as needing to be
- 9 consulted when it comes to things like lands and
- 10 even subsistence. But we think that it's really
- important that, the department realize that, you
- 12 know, the ANCSA corporations do need to be
- 13 consulted, especially because in each region
- there's a different division of labor. But in
- general, people really do expect ANCs to be
- 16 warriors for our people to protect our hunting and
- 17 fishing rights. You might not realize that if
- 18 you're thinking like ANCSA corporations are just
- 19 these for-profit corporation, you know, machines
- 20 out there. But for us and at NANA, our people
- 21 expect us to be engaging in fighting for
- 22 subsistence rights, for our language, for our

1 culture, for programs to help, you know, our

- 2 language not -- no longer be listed as endangered.
- And so, I think in fleshing out, like
- 4 what on the same basis as means, it's really
- 5 important to think about that. And something that
- 6 I think we had a question about. And I know and
- 7 I'll try to not take up too much more time. But
- 8 we noticed that the new draft says that the
- 9 department would make a good, good faith efforts
- 10 to invite ANCSA corporations to consult. But like
- 11 the current policy before the change, says the
- department. So, one that, when taking
- departmental action that has a substantial direct
- 14 effect on ANCSA corporations, the Department will
- initiate consultation with ANCSA corporations.
- So, we are a little worried that a good
- 17 faith effort rather than will, is happening. So,
- 18 we just asked you to think about that. Like, is
- that going to be giving strong enough guidance to
- your employees who are supposed to be carrying out
- 21 the consultation. We'd probably want to see
- 22 something stronger than good faith efforts on that

- 1 part. And then we had a question because the new
- 2 revised, 512 BM-6 says that the department, the
- definition of a departmental action applies in
- 4 part to quote unquote operational activity. We
- 5 don't quite know what that means. So, if it might
- 6 be worth giving providing some clarity on that.
- 7 MR. NEWLAND: Elizabeth, can you repeat
- 8 that?
- 9 MS. HENSLEY: Yes. Happy to Assistant
- 10 Secretary Newland under the revised 512 BM-6, the
- 11 policy part. That there's a -- the definition of
- 12 a departmental action applies in part to an
- operational activity. We're not quite sure what
- 14 the term operational activity means, and it's not
- in the current policy and it's not defined in the
- proposed one. So, we're just thinking it might be
- 17 helpful to flesh out what that means a little bit
- 18 like does operational activity. Include decisions
- and actions that affect like angst of corporation
- lands. If so, it would probably be helpful to
- 21 define that like, you know, so maybe fleshing that
- 22 out to provide that guidance to your staff would

- 1 be helpful. And then just finally, I want to put
- 2 a plug in for training.
- 3 Our experience on the ground is that
- 4 people, really good federal employees who are
- 5 trying to do the right thing will a lot of the
- times, I think, be mixed up on what constitutes
- 7 consultation versus a meeting versus a listening
- 8 session versus an update. And we find that people
- 9 don't necessarily know like what the rules are
- 10 that they're playing by. So, for example, will
- 11 get an invitation that says we want to have an
- 12 ANCSA corp consultation. So, we can provide you
- some updates and we're like, okay, can we just so
- 14 that we all understand what the goalposts are, and
- 15 the rules of engagement are, can you just let us
- 16 know what you view as the policy that we're
- following for this consultation and like, they
- 18 might not know or and we're like, so we're kind of
- 19 helping to educate them.
- Like, Okay, what decisions are you
- 21 seeking are meaningful consultation on like the
- 22 specific decisions so that we can help you make an

1 informed decision that will benefit the federal

- 2 government and benefit our people? And a lot of
- 3 the times it's kind of up in the air and they're
- like, well, we could call this a consultation or
- 5 we could call it just like our update to you,
- 6 whatever you want to call it. And we're like, oh,
- 7 nope, like this, we have to be more specific than
- 8 that. And so, I think training's really important
- 9 because I think people really want to do the right
- 10 thing and they just need a little help figuring it
- out. And then the report that you'll do on the
- 12 consultation, I think will also be helpful and
- just getting that accountability and helping
- 14 everybody see what's going on.
- So, I know I've spoken for kind of a
- long time, so I'll stop now, but I really want to
- thank you for seeking our input on this, and we
- 18 look forward to continuing to work with the
- department to make this something that really
- 20 helps strengthen the relationship and advance our
- 21 people forward. So, thank you.
- MR. NEWLAND: Thank you, Ms. Hensley,

1 and I appreciate your thorough comments and

- 2 appreciated the chance to work with you and when
- 3 you were here at the department. And the passage
- 4 of time is strange, although to I think it has a
- 5 -- takes a greater toll on some of us maybe -- but
- 6 thanks for joining us. And with respect to
- 7 training, that's something that is at the top of
- 8 our list. There's a lot of when you're developing
- 9 policy, there's the forward-facing stuff that the
- 10 public sees. And then I like to refer to it as
- 11 the back of house stuff to make, which is the work
- 12 that happens in the building to make sure that
- 13 there's things behind the policies, that they're
- not just words on paper. And that's one of the
- things we're doing in the back of house when it
- 16 comes to consultation and actually going to throw
- it to Tracy to talk a little bit about that.
- 18 MS. GOODLUCK: Yes, thank you, Assistant
- 19 Secretary Newland. And Liz, it's always good to
- see you. And yes, I would love to get back out to
- 21 Alaska someday. Beautiful, very beautiful
- 22 country. I loved it. So, thank you. You all

2 regard to the training, we have heard time and 3 time again, what you just said, that it's very critical that from your staff all the way up to 5 political appointees get trained on what tribal consultation means. Looks like what's the 6 difference between a listening session versus a 8 tribal consultation? What is government 9 consultation? 10 So, thank you for that comment and that 11 question and Bryan is correct that we are (inaudible) the back of house work is to put some 12 13 teeth behind this. I am part of, as others are on 14 this call here in Inter-agency Policy Committee 15 working with the White House at the Domestic were gracious hosts to us when we were there.

federal government to look at how to do effective training for our -- for the federal government employees on Tribal consultation. So, while I don't have anything to announce yet about what that's going to look like or entail, I do want you

Policy Council and other agencies across the 22 to know that from the initial beginning of this

1 administration, when we did the consultations on

- 2 consultation way back when a year ago. Over a
- 3 year and a half ago now.
- From that, there was a report developed
- 5 that was given to the president on best practices
- for Tribal consultation. We're looking at that
- 7 again and figuring out how does that then
- 8 correspond to doing things like training for
- 9 federal government employees on consultation. So,
- 10 we are actively working on this, discussing this,
- sharing ideas across interagency folks and working
- 12 to come out with some announcements at some point.
- 13 Soon.
- MR. NEWLAND: Thank you, Tracy. Okay.
- 15 We can hear from our next speaker if anyone else
- 16 wishes to speak. While we wait to see if anyone
- 17 else wishes to speak. We are -- you can see it in
- 18 the chat. We are accepting written comments on
- this all the way up until midnight on October the
- 20 17th. You can email those written comments to us
- 21 at, consultation@bia.gov. We have a hand raised,
- Josie Hickel.

1 MS. HICKEL: I thank you. First of all,

- 2 I want to just thank you for the work that's gone
- 3 into the proposed changes to consultation. You
- 4 know, this is something I recall the last time we
- 5 met and had a conversation about it, I believe,
- 6 was in 2018. I'm Josie Hickel, I'm an Executive
- 7 Vice President for the Chugach Alaska Corporation.
- 8 We appreciate a few things that we see in the
- 9 changes that are responsive to comments that we
- 10 have given in the past. And that really has to do
- 11 with the fact that consultation should be
- meaningful, and it should be timely and for
- 13 Chugach, we've been working with Department of
- 14 Interior the last several years pretty extensively
- on the land exchange issue.
- And, you know, we've experienced where
- 17 we've had consultations on our requests. The
- concern is that this issue about being meaningful
- when the input we provide doesn't seem to be
- 20 heard, but also just the lack of follow up. And I
- 21 think that goes back to some of the comments that
- 22 Elizabeth made. And I want to thank her for those

- 1 comments, because I think that they were all in
- 2 line with our position as well, that Alaska Native
- 3 corporations are (inaudible) -- and the way that
- 4 our corporations and our relationships with our
- 5 Tribes and our Tribal entities is somewhat complex
- 6 and it's unique and it's not the same as it is for
- 7 other organizations and Indian Tribes, as an
- 8 example.
- 9 And so, I think what we're concerned
- 10 about is we just want to make sure that we're
- 11 protecting our rights for consultation and then
- 12 also that, that consultation be meaningful and
- 13 that there be follow up so that we know that we
- actually have been heard instead of silenced,
- which is unfortunately all too often what we are
- 16 getting. I have a concern in particular with the
- 17 proposed language in the departmental manual under
- scope that it's Section 6.2, that essentially says
- 19 that to the extent that Indian Tribes and Alaska
- 20 Native corporations opinions differ on a matter
- 21 that the department shall give due consideration
- 22 to the rights of the sovereign -- sovereignty and

1 self-government government of federally recognized

- 2 Indian Tribes.
- And our concern about that, is that it's
- 4 creating a situation where it basically reads as
- 5 though the tribes would get deference. And I
- 6 think because of the issue of the Alaska Native
- 7 corporations being unique and are structured,
- 8 being different, that we need to have an equal
- 9 voice and be heard. And as Liz talked about, we
- 10 have land ownership rights, we provide services to
- our tribes and our regions and communities related
- 12 to social services and many other factors around
- 13 economic development and health and housing and
- 14 other things. And each one of our 12 Alaska
- Native corporations are a little bit different in
- 16 that respect. But it's important that our voices
- 17 be heard equally.
- 18 And I, I hope that that's not the - intent, that somehow, we're not getting equal and
- 20 due process here and that our voices are heard in
- 21 an equal way as Indian Tribes. So that that's
- 22 primarily my most significant comment that I

1 wanted to make today. And again, I think we agree

- 2 with many of the comments that Liz made as well
- 3 and will be submitting written comments. Thank
- 4 you.
- 5 MR. NEWLAND: Thank you for that, Josie,
- and thank you for taking the time to share your
- 7 comments with us, a part of your written comments.
- 8 I want to acknowledge also that the secretary's
- 9 Senior Advisor on Alaska issues, your friend, our
- 10 friend Raina Thiele, has joined us.
- 11 MS. THIELE: Hi, everyone. Thank you
- 12 for joining.
- MR. NEWLAND: Okay. We can go to our
- 14 next speaker. You can raise your hand using the
- 15 "Raised My Hand" feature. It's under the
- reactions, button at the bottom of your screen.
- 17 And if you don't wish to speak in this
- 18 consultation session but want to make sure that
- 19 you comment, we are accepting written comments all
- 20 the way through October 17th at midnight, at
- 21 consultation@bia.gov. Yes, Miss Hensley.
- MS. HENSLEY: Thank you. Assistant

- 1 Secretary Newland, And I was just going to jump in
- if nobody else wanted to claim the airwaves here.
- 3 Just to follow up with Josie and her comments,
- 4 which I really appreciated, but I think that's
- 5 just kind of what we're -- when I'm talking about
- 6 what does on the same basis as really mean, like
- 7 does that allow for that deference to Tribes
- 8 standard is, and to me, that's just something to
- 9 put a lot of consideration into because like Josie
- was saying, there's just so many different subject
- 11 matters that we could be consulting about.
- 12 And sometimes, you know, there will be
- 13 times when it's appropriate to, you know, we'll
- 14 hear everybody out. But it might not be
- appropriate to defer to one or the other just on
- 16 the basis of one being a Tribe and one being an
- 17 ANC. And I think that, that's really getting to
- 18 understand our model of self-determination will
- 19 help that make a little bit more sense. But I
- 20 think that's where that where I was coming, I just
- 21 said it in a different way, I think, which is
- 22 really what does that legal requirement on the

- 1 same basis mean? And I think that it it's a
- 2 little bit concerning the way that it's drafted
- 3 right now. So, thanks for a second chance to speak
- 4 and, I will lower my hand now. Thanks.
- 5 MR. NEWLAND: Thank you. Yes, we would
- 6 certainly welcome comments, maybe written
- 7 comments, or a place to provide more detail on.
- 8 Your ideas and how to build that out and provide a
- 9 clear meaning that, the point of this consultation
- is I want to make sure we're being interactive and
- 11 responsive, but I don't want to offer up an
- interpretation today and lock ourselves into
- 13 something. We want to make sure we're hearing
- from you. But that's, it's a really good point to
- 15 flag. I got it with a red star on my notes, which
- 16 means I have to come back to it. So, look forward
- to seeing your recommendations on that as well.
- 18 Okay.
- 19 Do we have anyone else here who wishes
- 20 to speak? We've got this scheduled for a couple
- 21 hours. We don't have to keep you here staring at
- 22 our faces for a few hours. You want to make sure

we're being respectful of your time, but we'll

- 2 stay the whole time as long as folks want to share
- 3 their views. I will do another call. Comments.
- 4 And I'll do a last call. Before we do last call
- for comments, I do want to share, in case you're
- 6 not aware already, that the Department of the
- 7 Interior and the Department of Commerce will be
- 8 coming up to Alaska in a couple of weeks to do a
- 9 series of consultations on subsistence fisheries
- issues. We're going to be in Bethel and Nome in
- 11 Fairbanks, I believe, Rose that's the 4th, 5th and
- 12 6th of October. You had those dates, right?
- 13 MS. PETOSKEY: October 5th in Bethel and
- then October 6th in Nome, October 7th in
- 15 Fairbanks. And we sent the letter out on
- 16 September 6th. It should be on the main DOI
- 17 consultation page shortly, hopefully today. So,
- 18 you should be able to find it there. I'll drop
- 19 the link in the chat for the consultation page and
- 20 you should see it there either later today or
- 21 later this week, tomorrow.
- MR. NEWLAND: Thanks, Rose. So again,

1 that's the 5th, 6th and 7th. And we'll have

- 2 representatives, myself, folks from the Fish
- 3 Wildlife Service, the National Parks Bureau of
- Land Management, as well as representatives from
- 5 Nome. And this is a continuation of our dialogue
- from last winter on these same topics. And I'm
- 7 looking forward to having the chance to come back
- 8 up and meet with many of you in person again.
- 9 Okay. Last call for comments on this consultation
- 10 session. Once. Twice. Okay. See, no hands
- 11 raised and hearing none, we can wrap up today's
- 12 session again. Invite your written feedback to
- consultation@bia.gov on these proposed changes to
- 14 the departmental manual.
- We're accepting those all the way
- through midnight on October the 17th. I
- 17 appreciate those of you who joined us this morning
- and those of you who have shared your ideas and
- 19 your thoughts with us. We want to make sure we're
- 20 getting this relationship right and that we're
- 21 building this into the department's policies in a
- 22 way that is lasting. So, thank you so much for

1	joining us today. I hope you all have a happy,
2	wonderful and safe weekend and we'll see you very
3	soon. That concludes this session.
4	(Whereupon, at 2:41 p.m., the
5	PROCEEDINGS were adjourned.)
