DOI-2026-002112	12/01/2025	12/01/2025	N/A	an emailed copy of the final title report from the Branch of Land Titles and acreage of the property held by Lummi Nation on the corner of Rural and Slater. It is called Salish Village. The Lummi Bay Market is located here with an address of 4839 Rural Ave. Bellingham, WA 98226	Assigned
DOI-2026-002121	12/01/2025	12/01/2025	N/A	I am requesting a copy of the authority used by the Lummi Nation to put the Lummi Casino into trust. The members rejected the IRA. The 1954 Land Acreage Report supports that Lummi and other Point Elliott Treaty reservations were never held in trust so the ILCA would not be allocable.	Assigned
DOI-2026-002123	12/01/2025	12/01/2025	N/A	I just made a similar request but felt further clarification may be needed. I am requesting a copy of the authority used to put the Casino of the Lummi Nation into trust. It is located on the corner of Slater and Haxton in Whatcom County. The address is 4750 Slater St. The authority would appear to be outside the IRA and the ILCA. This is because the members rejected the IRA and the ILCA would not apply because it has been confirmed in other BIA material that the Point Elliott reservations were never removed out the public domain and closed into trust. See 1954 land tenure report.	Assigned
DOI-2026-002126	12/01/2025	12/01/2025	N/A	I am requesting a copy of the most recent annual acreage land tenure report for the Northwest Region.	Assigned

DOI-2026-002219	12/03/2025	12/15/2025 Fennemore	On behalf of ASARCO LLC, I request prompt access for inspection and copying of the records of the United States Indian Service (USIS) (aka U.S. Indian Reservation Service Field Office) located at the Bureau of Indian Affairs' (BIA) San Carlos Irrigation Project (SCIP) office in Coolidge Arizona. These records include, without limitation, surveys, field notes, correspondence, maps, reports, and other records created circa 1913-1915 concerning agricultural lands along the Gila River and its tributaries (inclusive of the San Pedro River and Aravaipa Creek), as well as records created or maintained by, or under the supervision of, Clay "Charles" Southworth. The existence, location, and ready accessibility of the USIS records is described in the following excerpt from David H. DeJong, Forced to Abandon Our Fields: The 1944 Clay Southworth Gila River Pima Interviews (2011): [In 2004, (b) (6)] and I spent several days rummaging through the dank and dusty basement of the San Carlos Irrigation Project in Coolidge, Arizona. In the midst of hundreds of maps, engineering drawings, and blueprints, we came across the original hand-drawn maps of U.S. Indian Irrigation Service engineer Clay "Charles" Southworth (while born Clay, he went by Charles or Buzz for most of his adult life), who oversaw the Gila River Survey in 1914 in anticipation of the federal government's litigation of Pima water rights. After I had secured permission from Carl Christensen of the San Carlos Irrigation Project to remove the maps, (b) (6) (through her contacts at the Salt River Project in Tempe, Arizona) digitally scanned them. The maps proved to be extremely beneficial to both (b) (6) dissertation and mine.		Assigned

5. IIM account statements for both myself (as a minor) and (b) (6) from 1970–1985, showing deposits, withdrawals, and ties to allotments or per capita funds.
6. Any adoption, guardianship, name changes, or lineage verification files connecting me to (b) (6), including confidential BIA files.

I am the subject of these records (for my own files) and an interested party as (b) (6) direct descendant ((b) (6)). I hereby waive any confidentiality or privacy restrictions under the Privacy Act, Interior BIA-27, or FOIA exemptions for these records to facilitate release.
